

Natália is a committed police officer who has never believed true love. When she meets charming and endearing Brenner, she thinks she has found the perfect man. They quickly fall in love with each other and start to plan their future together. However, while Natália looks into several brutal murders, she starts to suspect that Brenner can be connected to the crimes. Determined to find out the truth, she secretly begins to investigate the man of her life. While her work progresses, Natália notices that Brenner may really be the most wanted psychopath in her town. Now she needs a disguise and endangers her relationship with the only man she has loved. Love and crime, devotion and tension, an exciting police thriller that will enthrall readers from the first page. With unexpected turnabouts, complex characters and an intense romance, this book is ideal for people who like engaging suspense.
